Posted by holly.ross.drupal on September 20, 2013 at 12:12am

We are happy to announce today that JetBrains is supporting the Drupal Association and the Community in two new ways:

1. They have signed on as a Drupal Association Technology Partner.
2. The company is offering core contributors access to free licenses to its PhpStorm PHP IDE.

JetBrains has supported Open Source projects with PhpStorm licenses for quite awhile and the Association is thrilled to be able to offer the same to our community. For the Drupal project, JetBrains will offer 250 Free Open Source Licenses for PhpStorm to be distributed among Drupal 7/8 core, modules and themes contributors.

These include:

- Drupal 8 core contributors (Top 50 contributors by number of commits to core)
- Drupal 7 core contributors (Top 50 contributors by number of commits to core)
- Drupal Modules contributors (Top 100 contributors by most installed)
- Drupal Themes contributors (Top 50 contributors by most installed)

To receive the free PhpStorm Open Source license, please fill out this open source license request form. Be sure to mention your Drupal username as it will be checked against the list of top Drupal contributors. You can read more about PhpStorm and the Open Source support program by JetBrains.

Many thanks to JetBrains, we're excited to have them as a partner!
